PROJECT HIGHLIGHTS

1st October- Girls' Health & Hygiene

To promote health and hygiene among teenage girls, RSR distributed 2500 sanitary napkins at Sarvodaya Vidyalaya, Segvachamma on 1 October. This project will benefit 280 girls studying in class VIII to X for six months. The stock was sourced by Assistant Service Projects Director Emely J George and Team Wow shared their valuable time in visiting the school and distributing them. What a way to kick start the new month!

2nd October - Free Mega Dental & Eye Check-up Camp

A Free Mega Dental & Eye Check-up Camp was organized at Segvachhama Primary School for the villagers of Segvachhama and neighbouring villages on 2 October. A team of doctors and nurses under the able guidance of Bharat Bhai checked the dental hygiene and had done vision testing of the villagers. About 104 villagers benefitted from this camp.

We extend a heartfelt gratitude to the teachers of Segvachhama Primary School for sparing their precious Sunday and also for sharing the space to support the noble cause. We much appreciate the presence of Annet Parishii for extending her dental expertise at the camp. We are much obliged to Rtn. Jugal Shinglot for planning and executing the camp flawlessly. We also extend our gratefulness to the volunteers who extended their service beyond self on a Sunday morning. Last but not the least, KUDOS to Team Wow for two back to back successful projects.

15th October - GKP: HUMF 4 Nanhe Kadam

As a Pre-Diwali celebration with the children of Aanganwadi, the HUMF 4 Nanhe Kadam was organized on 15 October. Some precious moments were shared with the kids which gave the members solace to see bright and happy faces. Interesting games were being played with the children to make them feel ever so important in this world. Chocolates were shared with them to spread sweetness and positivity in life. Crackers were burst to enjoy the moment in the company of the beaming faces.

A special mention to IPP Rajesh Mehta for organizing this event! It's customary to meet these bundle of joy every month under his leadership.

19th October- GKP: Spreading Happiness on Diwali

As a part of the GKP, the members of RSR visited the Segvachhama Primary School to share happiness by organising a Pre-Diwali celebration with the little ones of the school. The creative minds of the school made eco-friendly rangolis with resources available in nature. The rangolis were priceless as the creativity portrayed by the young minds with bio-degradable items was worth appreciating. The festival was further celebrated by lighting phuljharis with them and sharing happiness in their company.

19th October- GKP: Annapoorna Project 4

Project Annapoorna 4, as a part of GKP, was held on 19 October at Segvachhama Primary School after the celebration of Diwali with the students of the school. Annet Aditi joined the project enthusiastically and sponsored the meals. We are much grateful to her benevolent act. The children relished the Chinese Bhel in the company of their teachers and the RSRians. Such projects give a sense of achievement manifold.

Rotary Man of the Month. - Rtn. Jugal Shinglot

Ever ready to take up with the Authorities across Rotary to ensure that Right projects are implemented for the benefit of humanity and the needy, across the Rotary fraternity. A man with the most knowledge of Rotary norms.

Motivational Story

True Motivational

I believed I Was Good.

Most talented and renowned artists of the decade. A self-made man who followed his passion, his love for acting and traveled a journey from an ordinary person to the list of Forbes India's celebrity 100.

In India, where the artist of a film is called a hero, not an actor. His dream was not to be an actor but to be a hero.

"I've learned that you should not take people seriously even when they praise you or trash you"

Unlike any artist who has a familial connection in Bollywood, his way to the best debut artist was not that simple. Thinking about it realistically, he couldn't get there.

Born on 6th July 1985, he dropped his surname "Bhavnani" as it was "too long, too many syllables".

While he was in his 2nd year during his graduation, by chance, took a drama class.

His instructor asked him to perform in front of all. He recited dialogues in Hindi which impressed all of the audience and evoke an emotional reaction out of the audience, the ones who didn't even understand his language, thus he got a belief that he had something, and why is he not doing it. He called his dad and told the story. His dad agreed but on a condition to complete his graduation first.

"I CAN ACCEPT FALLING BUT I CAN'T ACCEPT NOT TRYING."

After his graduation, he came to India and did a job as a copywriter. But his heart still had the dream so left the job and began his struggle to the big screen.

He tried to join some theatre but it was hard to be in one. He did everything to be near the theatre, near his passion.

He did all kind of work from pulling up chairs, bring the actors tea, turning lights on-off, everything he could do to be helpful to the theatre.

He used to put setups, break the set down. He was a runner.

He tried every way to contact directors, producer and even stole nos from the phones.

It was a hard time. Sometimes he doubted his decision. But deep down he hears a voice shouting

" hold a little more, stay a little more."

He didn't let the fear to overcome his belief. He didn't quit.

"I BELIEVED that I WAS GOOD" - he says.

Finally, the call rang. In January 2010, He was chosen for the lead role. They wanted a new face and were impressed by his audition video.

Then the day comes. On Friday he was a struggler and on Monday a celebrity.

His film earned 214 million at the domestic box office. Then the Best Male debut in the 56th Filmfare awards.

And then the list goes on. His acting and his belief in himself made him what he is now. The most loved artist, always full of life.

"That's what you get for pursuing your passion."

If you have a dream stick to it as long as you want. There is no one to tell you, you don't have it in you. If you believe you have and you can. That's all you want.

My First Year with Rotary

My wife Mohini and I instantly connected with the members at Rotary Riverside Surat at our first get together itself.

The club members are very warm and welcoming to everyone. There is a unique vibe within the club, the vibe of GIVING. I have been part of multiple groups and here there is RSR which has the right balance between executing great projects for the welfare of the beneficiary communities and strong fellowship within members.
