With heart and mind

To adapt, as laid out in Rotary's Action Plan, we must occasionally step out of our comfort zone and try something new. Here are two examples of clubs that adapted — one with heart and one through critical thinking and strategy.

The Rotary Club of Chandigarh Mid Town, India, led with heart earlier this year. To engage members and grow membership, Club President Nitin Kapur personally called every former member of the club and invited them to a gathering billed as an alumni meetup.

Eight former members attended, and the results were stupendous. The visitors had a chance to connect once more — not only with current members but with the sense of camaraderie and belonging that membership gave them. By the end of the evening, the club welcomed six of the former members back into the Rotary family.

Club President Kapur showed courage when he reached out to the alumni. Not only did he adapt and try something new but he had the strength of character to show the club's alumni how much they still meant to the family of Rotary. That bravery paid off.

People want to feel needed and appreciated. People want to feel that they belong. And they might never feel that way if we don't have the courage to tell them.

Meanwhile, the Rotary Club of Seoul-Hansoo, Korea, has been experimenting with different club models to great effect. Over the past four years, Seoul-Hansoo has created and maintained four satellite clubs — a service club, an interest-based club for musicians, a cause-based club that mentors professionals, and a club for college students.

These satellite clubs are part of a five-year plan the Seoul-Hansoo club implemented to increase membership through innovation.

What's the secret to founding and maintaining so many satellite clubs? Membership between Seoul-Hansoo and its satellite clubs is fluid and synergistic. Many members of the satellite clubs attend the sponsor club's meetings. And many of the sponsor club's members participate in the satellite clubs.

Additionally, the focus of each satellite club is no accident. Each one appeals to different interests of people in the sponsor club and in the community, attracting existing and potential members. This is an excellent strategy to both retain and attract members because it offers flexibility. If someone is interested in joining but they can't make it to the sponsor club's meetings, they have plenty of options to choose from.

These are just two examples of how we can adapt with our hearts and minds. Every club is different, so I encourage you to reach out to members of your club and of the community around you. Ask them about the club experience and what you can do to improve.

Talk to enough people and you might find ways that you can adapt and spark The Magic of Rotary in your club.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

From Editor's Desk

Dear Fellow Rotarians and Friends,

November brings with it a spirit of reflection, gratitude, and renewed energy for service. In this edition of our bulletin, we celebrate the achievements of the past month and set our sights on the opportunities ahead.

A highlight of November was our Health Awareness and Screening Camp at Navin Adarsh Madhya Vidyalaya, Kankarbagh, which served over 100 students. Through free consultations, diagnostic services, and health education, we made strides in fostering healthier lives. This initiative underscored Rotary's mission to address local needs with impactful solutions.

We also successfully organised Distribution of Chatth Puja Samagri on the auspicious occasion of Chatth on 06.11.2024. The club extended support to a needy women Ms. Suman, a widowed mother of three children, donated a 150 CC Kelvinator refrigerator. This act of kindness reflects the club's dedication to uplifting those in need and fostering self-reliance within the community. On the occasion of Children's Day on November 14, 2024, the Bihar Council of Women organized a vibrant fete for schoolchildren from slum areas at Lady Stephen's Hall, Patna of which our club was active participant.

This month, we celebrated Rotary Foundation Month, emphasizing the importance of global giving. Our members came together to contribute to The Rotary Foundation, supporting projects that address challenges like disease prevention, education, and economic development worldwide.

November was also a time to connect and strengthen our bonds. Various projects throughout the month provided members and their families with a joyful opportunity to serve and celebrate our shared commitment to Rotary values.

As we move toward the year's end, let us carry forward the enthusiasm and dedication that marked this month. Together, we can continue to create lasting change in our community and beyond.

In service and fellowship,
