Obituary

Bharati Sengupta (1929-2024), mother of Rtn. Sudipta Chaudhuri, age 95 years. House wife. She was very social, a woman ahead of her time. She was keen and believed that women should stand on their own feet. She did not believe in any sort of superstition. She was good at singing and at recitation. She had a lot of interest in the history of India and she took interest in current affairs and all sorts of social news. She was a fighter and struggled against all odds to bring up her children and did an incredible job with that. She was a fearless woman and her life's circumstances taught her to be independent and spiritual. She was a very lovable person in her locality and was also a very friendly human being. She was fun loving and loved playing ludo. She believed in women empowerment and encouraged women to dress smartly and be self reliant when it came to working or travelling. She always pushed for the women in our family to be self established. She was a great fan of Shahrukh Khan. She loved his smiling face. She was not a very great cook but still cooked well and specially cooked delicious alu posto. She was a woman ahead of her time mentally and spiritually and thoughtfully.
