Spread love, stay strong

● Radhika Lohia

The International day of families is observed on 15th of May every year. It is celebrated to develop ties and bonds with our loved ones. Knowing that the Corona virus pandemic has put us all in a dire situation. And the primary action that we can take to overcome the situation is by staying indoors keeping ourselves safe. It will be hopeful for us in seeing the brighter side and remain hopeful and compassionate. Gratitude overcomes and overcomes whatever worries we might have. It makes us feel contented. During these times spending quality time with our loved ones to show affection, appreciation and encouragement towards them can have a positive impact on mental health. Helping neighbours, senior citizens will help to make life comfortable. It creates a sense of goodwill and compassion.

No matter how hard these times get all we can really do is keep loving the people we have around us. And stay strong. We will make it through love together. May god bless all of us.
