Chesley R. Perry: Rotary's first general secretary

"Builder of Rotary International"

Chesley Reynolds Perry, a Spanish-American War veteran and former Chicago Public Library employee, served as Rotary's first secretary and is known as "the builder of Rotary International."

While Rotary's president changes every year, only 12 people have served as general secretary, a role that's equivalent to a chief executive — and at 32 years, Perry served the longest.

In August 1910, the newly formed National Association of Rotary Clubs (now Rotary International) unanimously selected Perry for the role then known as secretary. He accepted the part-time position at $100 per month, with an agreement that the amount of time he'd devote would remain unspecified. By 1912, the job had evolved into a full-time executive role, and Perry's pay was increased.

Perry's own office on LaSalle Street in Chicago, Illinois, USA, served as the first headquarters of the association. By 1911, Rotary had established an office in the First National Bank Building at the intersection of Dearborn and Monroe in Chicago.

Perry concurrently served as editor and business manager of The Rotarian from 1911 to 1928, and he opened Rotary's first international office, in Zurich, Switzerland, in February 1925. He oversaw the expansion of Rotary as it grew during his tenure from 16 clubs in the United States to more than 5,000 worldwide. His title was officially changed to general secretary in 1941-42, his final year in office.

Perry had announced his plans to retire in 1940, but agreed to remain in his post while the organization trained his successor, Philip C. Lovejoy. A number of clubs sought to nominate Perry for RI president in 1942-43, but he declined, saying, "I am gratefully conscious of the high compliment thereby being paid to me."

After retiring, Perry remained a member of the Rotary Club of Chicago, which he'd joined in 1908. But he wasn't done being a leader, and served as club president in 1944-45. In 1954, Rotary offered him the title "secretary emeritus" to honor his years of service, but he again declined, preferring the role of ordinary Rotarian. Perry died on 21 February 1960 at the age of 87.

Rotary's Relationship with the United Nations Creation

Rotary International has had a close relationship with the creation of the United Nations (UN) since its inception.. In 1942, during World War II, Rotary International President Clem Renouf convened a meeting in London with Rotary leaders from around the world to discuss the possibility of creating an international organization that would promote peace and cooperation between nations.

The Charter Of The United Nations

In 1945, after the Dumbarton Oaks Conference, Rotary leaders from around the world met at the Rotary World Convention in San Francisco, California to discuss the creation of the United Nations. At this convention, a resolution urging the creation of an international organization that would promote peace and security in the world was adopted.

The resolution was introduced by Rotary delegate Paul Harris, who later became Rotary International's first president.. The resolution was adopted unanimously and became the basis for the creation of the United Nations.

The United Nations Visit

Each year, Rotary International organizes a visit to the United Nations in New York, where Rotary leaders from around the world meet with UN officials to discuss issues of common interest, such as peace, security, sustainable development and the eradication of poverty.

During the visit, Rotary leaders meet with the UN Secretary-General and other high-level officials to discuss cooperation between Rotary and the UN on projects and programmes that benefit humanity.

The History of the Past ***

Rotary's relationship with the creation of the United Nations dates back to World War I, when Rotary founder Paul Harris met with leaders from other countries to discuss the possibility of creating an international organization that would promote peace and cooperation among the nations. nations.

In 1915, Harris traveled to Europe to meet with Rotary leaders from other countries and discuss the possibility of creating an international organization that would promote peace and cooperation. This meeting became the precursor to the League of Nations, which later became the United Nations.

Rotary's contribution to the United Nations

Rotary has contributed significantly to the creation and development of the United Nations. Some of the most notable accomplishments include:

- The creation of the Charter of the United Nations, which was introduced by Rotary at the 1945 World Convention.
- Rotary's participation in the San Francisco Conference, which adopted the Charter of the United Nations.
- The creation of the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP), which has worked with Rotary on sustainable development projects around the world.
- Rotary's participation in the 1992 Earth Summit, which adopted Agenda 21, an action plan for sustainable development in the 21st century.

Conclusion

Rotary's relationship with the creation of the United Nations is an example of the organization's ability to promote peace and cooperation among nations. Over the years, Rotary has contributed significantly to the creation and development of the United Nations, and continues to work with the UN on projects and programmes that benefit humanity.

From..... Mark Daniel Maloney, the 2024-25 Rotary Foundation trustee chair.

Donors to The Rotary Foundation celebrated some big achievements in fundraising in the past year, showing their support for the wide array of programs the organization sponsors all over the world.

A multiyear campaign to increase the Endowment to US$2.025 billion by 2025 exceeded its goal by US$25 million. In 2024-25 alone, members and others contributed more than half a billion dollars to the Foundation.

"The goal was an inspiration, but the objective was to do good in the world," says Mark Daniel Maloney, the 2024-25 Rotary Foundation trustee chair. "We are making sure that Rotary will always be able to carry out that mission."

The Foundation raised more than US$569 million in 2024-25 alone, exceeding its annual goal by almost US$70 million. More than 478,000 individuals donated, along with over 31,000 Rotary clubs and nearly 1,900 Rotaract clubs.

Thanks to its donors, the Foundation was able to award 1,424 global grants, 468 district grants, and 74 disaster response grants in the past year. A US$2 million Programs of Scale grant will help build peace and economic independence in Colombia. Rotary International also extended its long-standing partnership with the Gates Foundation, announcing a joint commitment of up to US$450 million over three years to support global polio eradication efforts.

"Rotary members demonstrated their commitment to these efforts with their support of the 2.025 by 2025 campaign," Maloney says. In particular, he notes the large number of fundraising events around the world that Rotary's district governors organized.

"I am just amazed at the generosity of Rotary members," he says. "They came together to make it happen."

Dr Manjunath was our chief guest inat our regular meeting held on 11th Dec 2025. He talked about regenerative medicine.

Our club cricket team played the semifinal match at the District sports meet held @Puttur. Kudos to captain Rtn Pandurang Shetty and all the players.

Facts of Science

Deep inside the Sun's core, hydrogen atoms fuse into helium, releasing powerful gamma-ray energy. This energy doesn't rush outward immediately. Instead, it moves slowly through dense solar layers, scattering countless times in a long, winding journey that can take anywhere from ten thousand to more than one hundred thousand years. Each tiny step carries it closer to the surface as it transforms into the more familiar light we can see. Once this energy finally reaches the Sun's surface, everything changes. It becomes sunlight and travels at the speed of light, covering the 150 million kilometers between the Sun and Earth in just 8 minutes and 20 seconds. The warm glow we feel is the final stage of an ancient voyage that began deep inside our star. This incredible journey reminds us that even everyday sunlight carries a cosmic story. What we see as a simple beam of light is actually the result of processes that began millennia ago, showing how deeply connected we are to the workings of the universe.
