PAUL P. HARRIS: THE VISIONARY BEHIND ROTARY

In the bustling city of Chicago, a seed of camaraderie planted by a chance encounter between attorneys Paul P. Harris and Bob Frank would blossom into the global phenomenon we know as Rotary.

Born on April 19, 1868, in Racine, Wisconsin, Harris's journey towards Rotary's inception took root early. His academic pursuits led him to the University of Vermont and Princeton University, culminating in a law degree from the University of Iowa in 1891.

Chicago became Harris's home in 1896, where he opened a law practice. A pivotal moment occurred during a dinner with fellow attorney Bob Frank in 1900. As they strolled through Chicago's North Side, Harris marveled at Frank's camaraderie with local shopkeepers, reminiscent of his upbringing in Wallingford.

Inspired, Harris envisioned a platform uniting professionals and fostering fellowship. On February 23, 1905, at Gustavus Loehr's downtown Chicago office, Harris, Loehr, Silvester Schiele, and Hiram Shorey convened for what marked the inaugural Rotary club meeting.

By 1907, Harris assumed the role of the third president of the Rotary Club of Chicago. Undeterred by initial resistance, he spearheaded Rotary's expansion beyond the city, recognizing its potential impact.

Harris's visionary leadership prompted the formation of a national association. In August 1910, the first national convention in Chicago united 16 clubs as the National Association of Rotary Clubs, now known as Rotary International, with Harris elected as its president.

Harris's impact extended even beyond his passing on January 27, 1947. Advocating for contributions to The Rotary Foundation, his legacy spurred the creation of the Paul Harris Memorial Fund. In 18 months, the Foundation received $1.3 million, funding its inaugural program-scholarships for graduate study abroad. The story of Paul Harris is one of vision, fellowship, and a commitment to service that continues to resonate, shaping Rotary's enduring legacy of global impact.

WHAT WE LEARN FROM ROTARY?

- Each one of us can make a difference, but together we make a big change.
- Our main purpose in Rotary is to help others.
- We get an opportunity to improve the lives of others.
- Rotary has helped us to understand the purpose of human life and value. Not all of us can do great things, but we can do small things.
- Individually we are one drop, but together we are an ocean.
- We are not a team because we work together, we are a team because we respect, trust and care for each other.
- We learn the wisdom of compromise, for it is better to bend a little than to break.
- Rotary has taught us the value of time and punctuality.
- We have learned to keep our ego under control, at least in Rotary matters.
- Rotary has not only given us many selfless friends, but at the same time developed us better to interact with others in our vocation and social life.
- Organising camps, visits to other clubs and attending the conventions and conferences adds a lot to self-satisfaction.
- We learn better understanding of components of ethical behaviour in business and community.
- Unity is strength. When there is teamwork and collaboration, wonderful things can be achieved.
