Rotary Fellowship Groups

In Rotary, a fellowship is a group of individuals who unite around a shared interest, profession, or recreational activity. These international groups are open to all interested participants and offer opportunities to connect, explore common passions, and enrich their Rotary experience.

Key Aspects of Rotary Fellowships:

Common Interest: Fellowships are centered around specific hobbies, professions, or shared interests, such as antique automobiles, literature, or healthcare.

International Scope: Fellowships operate on a global scale, enabling members to engage with like-minded individuals worldwide.

Networking and Friendship: They promote networking, foster friendships, and encourage the exchange of ideas among members.

Service Opportunities: Fellowships also serve as platforms for collaborative service projects related to their particular interests.

Independent Operation: Although recognized by Rotary International, fellowships function independently and are self-sustaining.

No Religious or Political Affiliation: Fellowships are strictly non-religious and non-political in nature.

Examples: Popular fellowships include those focused on 4x4 vehicles, urban gardening, and various professional sectors.

Rotary Peace Fellowships : In addition to interest-based fellowships, Rotary offers Peace Fellowships, which are prestigious and highly competitive awards for individuals pursuing careers in peace & conflict resolution. These fellowships provide financial support for master's degree programs or professional development certificates in peace studies & related fields.

Each year, Rotary awards up to 130 fully funded fellowships to dedicated leaders from around the globe to study at one of its peace centers. Through academic training, field experience, and global networking, the Rotary Peace Centers program equips peace and development professionals to become effective agents of change. The fellowships cover tuition and fees, room and board, round-trip transportation, and expenses for internships and field studies.

Since the program's inception in 2002, Rotary Peace Centers have trained over 1,800 fellows who now serve in more than 140 countries. These individuals work as leaders in government, NGOs, educational and research institutions, peacekeeping and law enforcement agencies, and international organizations such as the United Nations and the World Bank.
