COEXISTENCE IS THE REAL INTELLIGENCE

DATE: 3-11-25

In today's session, the students of GOVT. PRIMARY SCHOOL, MOOTAIKARAN CHAVADI learnt

- Mud houses stay cool without electricity, how natural ponds clean themselves, and how even a handful of soil can become a home for life.
- Their eyes lit up imagining homes built from earth, not cement, classrooms shaded by trees, not concrete and villages where waste turns into compost instead of trouble.
- The highlight was when one child whispered, “If mud can build a house... can my habits build a better Earth?”

The session planted not just ideas, but possibilities the kind that grow roots.

CHOOSE WISELY, THE PLANET LISTENS

DATE: 4-11-25

The students of GOVT PRIMARY SCHOOL, PERUNGUDI explored

- How sustainability can begin right inside their school walls.
- How terrace gardens can become tiny farms, growing vegetables that can directly support their own school kitchen making every meal fresher, safer, and more meaningful.

The idea that “we grow it, we cook it, we eat it” sparked an excitement that no textbook can create.

- Students discovered how natural products, traditional skills, and sustainable agriculture define a healthier future than plastic - filled entertainment spaces.
