In addition to participation, KVTC had its stall there in the venue for spreading awareness.

Oceans connect us

06-10-2025

As part of our ongoing initiative, we discussed on 6th October 2025 that in the school campus OF AVVAI HOME to do native tree plantation, climate change awareness, and Diwali-environmental awareness programs. The sessions aimed to encourage students to engage in sustainable practices and understand the importance of protecting our environment and the role of ocean in maintaining the balance in climate.

Heal the Earth- Heal Yourself

09-10-2025

“How Plastic is Suffocating Climate Change and Transforming Plastic Pollution into Green Innovation”. Regular maintenance of plantations and clean-up drives are actively in progress, reinforcing students’ sense of environmental responsibility. Through interactive one-on-one discussions, students examined how plastic pollution contributes to climate change by suffocating our campus, land, air, and oceans.

They also proposed creative solutions to recycle and repurpose plastic waste into practical, eco-friendly products demonstrating that with awareness, innovation, and teamwork, even pollution can be turned into green innovation.

PETTAGAM – a unique initiative by Ann Meenu Ganeshan

15-10-2025

Ann Meenu Ganeshan, opened India's first private museum "Pettagam" on Chettinad Jewellery in Karaikudi on 15th oct 2025. We all know Chettinad is celebrated for its heritage and architecture; now has inherited another diamond on its crown through this museum.

Every Chettiar (the business community in Tamil Nadu) home is said to have a "Pettagam", a traditional wooden chest or strongbox used to store the family's valuables. Karaikudi will now have a "Pettagam" that has been born of a dream to immortalize the glittering legacy of Chettinad Jewellery.

History tell us that NAGARATHAR'S / Chettiars were fearless traders who crossed the oceans in pursuit of opportunity and while doing so, they brought the world back home with them.

PETTAGAM – a unique initiative by Ann Meenu Ganeshan

15-10-2025

The Nagarathars' influence across the oceans was so widespread, that they were even specially invited to Queen Victoria's coronation. Consequently, from weaving European flavours into their cuisine to incorporating Art Deco elegance into their jewellery, the Nagarathars blended global influences into their rich traditions. Rooted in this legacy, Pettagam unfolds as a space that celebrates the global journey of the Nagarathars and how echoes of the past come alive in the Chettinad aesthetic of today

IN PETTAGAM guests step into an experience designed with care and inventiveness. Spread across two floors, Pettagam takes the visitor through a multi-media journey showcasing the quintessence of Chettinad jewellery. The journey begins by tracing the origins of Chettinad jewellery, its regional motifs, and craftsmanship that has evolved over five generations. A quiet theatre follows where the lights dim and a 15-minute film draws visitors into the world of diamonds, intricate designs, and the hum of skilled hands practicing age-old techniques.

PETTAGAM – a unique initiative by Ann Meenu Ganeshan

15-10-2025

Pettagam spotlights the dying art of traditional close setting, a meticulous technique used in less than 10% of traditional jewellery worldwide. The second floor showcases three distinct genres of jewellery. Here, classic kandacharams, poocharams and mullaicharams from Chettinad are juxtaposed with exquisite adaptations of the rich Kasumala of Kerala, the attractive Arakku temple jewellery of the Chola and Pandya kings, the intricate Jali wrist adornments from the Mughal era and the opulent Kundan necklaces from the royal courts of Rajasthan. Pettagam is more than just a museum, it is a living archive of Chettinad's rich and layered jewellery heritage.

Kuppachiparai project – Sprayer drone gift

15-10-2025

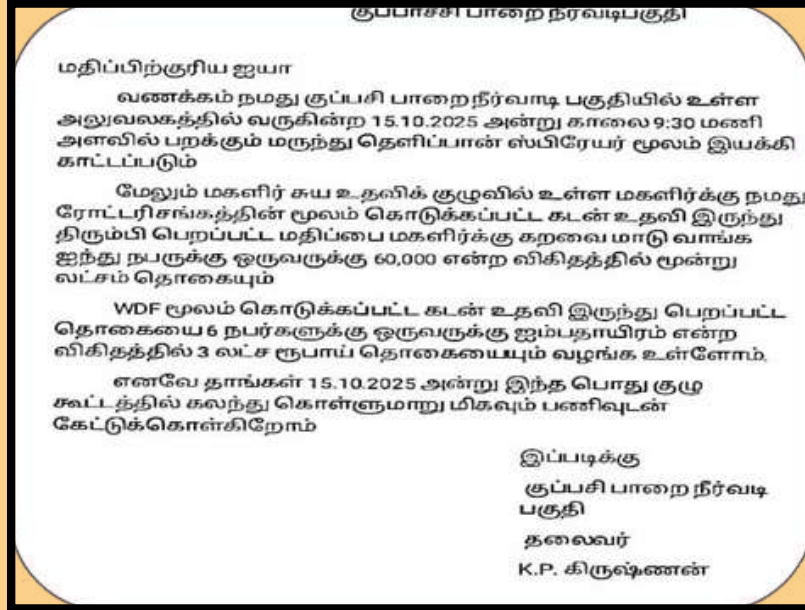

Our GG project #1636771, Kuppachiparai watershed and integral rural development project carried out in association with RC Maanagar Krishnagiri, NABARD (National Bank for AGRICULTURE and Rural Development) and NAF (National Agro Foundation) along with assistance from our International partner RC of Stavanger International, Norway, in villages of Krishnagiri district is becoming a sustainable project and proving its outcome through improvement in the livelihood of farmers and villagers there.

NABARD continues to recognise our Kuppachiparai project for assistance, the latest being gift of a sprayer drone to the Self Help Group there. The drone will be made available to the beneficiaries at a nominal cost.

Kuppachiparai project – Sprayer drone gift

15-10-2025

During that occasion, 6 women were given a loan of Rs. 50,000 each to buy milch cows from the Rotary fund; further, another set of women were given a loan of 3.00 lakhs from the Watershed Development Fund, thereby improving the livelihood of the farmers. This project is a perfect example of sustainability and ownership of the beneficiaries to uplift the needy fellow villagers and will benefit generations to come.

Small Seed Big Future

27-10-2025

As part of our environmental educational program, enthusiastic students of Sarada Vidyalaya, T. Nagar gathered for an evening session on “How Plastic is Suffocating EARTH INDUCING Climate Change and Transforming Plastic Pollution into Green INNOVATION. Beyond the classroom, discussions focused on how plastic pollution is silently suffocating our planet and accelerating climate change. Discussion was also held with teachers and HM on child marriage, disabilities, difficulties and mental crises, money-driven commitments, and serious health issues such as brain tumors.

Be kind to every kind

29-10-2025

As part of our ongoing initiative, we visited Kesari School on 29th October 2025 to discuss on how to be kind to our surroundings which include all species, native tree plantation, climate change awareness, and Diwali environmental awareness programs. The sessions aimed to encourage students to engage in sustainable practices and understand the importance of protecting our environment.

Seed Bank- RCMC initiative for school children

As per the request of our interact school, we started the initiative of having a seed bank in the school to educate and inculcate the habit of knowing our environment. By doing this we achieve the following:

1. Conservation of Biodiversity
2. Educational Purpose
3. Environmental Awareness
4. Sustainable Agriculture
5. Climate Change Resilience
6. Practical & Community Impact
7. Cultural & Heritage Value
8. Showcasing in Bottles – Purpose & Benefits

How Students Can Be Part of the School Seed Bank Initiative

1. Collect Seeds
2. Clean & Dry Seeds
3. Label and Store
4. Create a Seed Display Corner
5. Participate in Awareness Drives
6. Germinate and Grow
7. Exchange & Expand
8. Document and Research
9. Be Eco Ambassadors

The poster is titled "Rotary GREEN SEED BANK INITIATIVE" with the tagline "Saving Seeds, Sustaining Life". It encourages students to bring nature into schools by collecting, preserving, and sharing native plant seeds. The poster lists five steps: 1. Learn about native species, 2. Store and label collected seeds, 3. Plant them during green drives, 4. Be part of Rotary's Green Mission for Tomorrow, and 5. Students preserving native seeds for a greener future. It includes two photographs: one showing several glass jars filled with different types of seeds, and another showing a grid of small seed packets. The poster is signed off as "An Environmental Initiative by Rotary Club of Madras Coromandel".
