Very Good Evening Rotarians,

Rotary welcomes a new born in this world with an object of healthy mother and child relationship through creating awareness, support systems, and need based assistance.

The natural aspect of breast feeding to new born is part of natural system, in built, and preloaded action of mammals and their progeny. However with the advancement of modern life there has intruded some deviations, not conducive to this relationship between mother and new born. At this juncture Rotary steps in to co-operate and realign the natural relationship. Awareness programmes are designed to remind the nutritional value and it's long range effect in the life of baby. Breast milk contains perfect mix of proteins, fats, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals for the infant body. It contains antibodies that help protect babies from infections and diseases lowers risks of respiratory infections and diarrhea. It supports brain development, cognitive function and overall growth.

The breast feeding in disguise creates benefits for mothers by helping uterus contract back to it's pre-pregnancy size; reducing bleeding, helping lose pregnancy weight more quickly; helping to lower risk of breast and ovarian cancer, type 2 diabetes, and postpartum depression. The skin to skin contact and the act of feeding fosters a strong emotional bond between mother and child.

These days the benevolent and conscious employers are also voluntarily providing breast feeding female workers a safe lactation room and flexible break times. The social communities are also fast learning to accept it in public places also and it is not considered anathema to the civilized social manners in public.
