REFLECTION

I only have two hands
and so every day
I have to decide
what I can carry.
Regret
is a waste
of a hand,
and so is
anger.
One hand
is almost always reserved
for hope.
(The other holds tight to you.)

– Kristina Mahr

REFLECTION

Matter and energy are the two sides of the same coin; they are not two distinct entities at the subtlest level, opines a great physicist, Hans-Peter Duerr, Emeritus President of the Max Planck Institute in Munich, who succeeded Albert Einstein and Werner Heisenberg. Trying to look at matter at its subtlest level for the last 55 years, Hans-Peter recently realised that there is no matter distinct from energy at that level. That vast omnipotent energy is the universal consciousness (or God) and we humans are but a tiny bit of that consciousness, the individual consciousness.

"Whenever I give a lecture on Quantum Physics, I feel as if I am talking on Vedanta!"

I studied matter for the last 35 years, only to find out that it does not exist! I have been studying something that does not exist'. - exactly what Adi Shankara said long back from the Upanishads

"All that you see doesn't exist"
