INFLUENCE OF JOHN'S HORROR INTERNATIONAL TELE TO B&W

FOR THE last four years, John's Horror International has been the dominant force in horror programming in the United States, from 1981 to 1985, it had 13% of the total U.S. television audience. The company's success can be attributed to its unique marketing strategy, which emphasizes the quality of the product, and to the fact that it is not competing with other networks.

The company's focus will now shift to the international market, continuing the expansion process, and will continue to be the leader in educational programs. On the basis of current data, it is estimated that the company's JHI will be active in 1986 in more than 100 countries worldwide.

The opening of new offices in London, Paris, Rome, and Tokyo, Japan, has been the result of the company's commitment to international expansion. In addition, there is a new division called "International Broadcast Services," which will handle the distribution of international programming to foreign markets.

John's Horror International will continue to expand its international operations, and the goal remains to become the leading supplier of horror and educational television. It is being developed to develop new products for the international market, including educational programs, the company's focus will now shift to the international market, continuing the expansion process, and will continue to be the leader in educational programs. On the basis of current data, it is estimated that the company's JHI will be active in 1986 in more than 100 countries worldwide.

NOTARY PUBLIC OR JPD: WHICH IS A PRACTICAL AND PLEASANT NIGHT FOLLOWUP?

On January 4, 2002, around 10:30 P.M., I had the opportunity to see something in a hotel room that has never been seen before. It was a true "no place like home" moment. I was in my room at the Hotel Plaza, 1000 E. University, Detroit, when a woman came into my room. Her name is Marissa, though she didn't tell me her last name.

She had just come from a night class at the University of Michigan. She had just graduated from the University of Michigan and was excited about her graduation. She had a major project, which went off without a hitch.

The woman's boyfriend was waiting outside the room, nervous, and she told me that he had just graduated and probably was all the way down the hall from the room that I had in the previous section. He was a true and remarkable person.

The night of the night class, Marissa, Jim and Tom (Sally's three children) all stayed with Jim the night before and again Thursday, so Tom, Jim and Sally were all alone. Keeping up with the demands of parenthood can be a hard job, but it's not always easy.

BUTIARY CLUB OF PWD BRINGS JOY THROUGH CINEMA

In light of the fact that a PWD audience is hard to come across, the Butiary Club of PWDs has been presenting and incorporating education, PWD issues, culture, etc., into the movies they show. The club has found a relationship with the Maharashtra State Film and Filmfare awards.

After the inauguration of President Pratibha Patil's speech and report of 13th Lok Sabha, the club organized a screening of The Man and the Magician. The film produced by Ravioli Visuals, was especially selected by Pramod Rao Upadhyay.

The Butiary Club of PWD organized a screening of Chandni Chowk To China at 7.30 p.m. at PWD Club Hall. The screening was organized by Butiary Club members. The screening program is an Indian classic movie, Sholay, directed by Ramesh Sippy and the original music composed by R.D. Burman. The Butiary Club also organized a screening of Sholay at 7.30 p.m. on 10th October. The screening was organized by Butiary Club members along with the members of their respective PWD clubs and other voluntary organizations. The Butiary Club will continue to organize such programs and activities. The Butiary Club will continue to organize such programs and activities.

After the screening of Sholay on 10th October, the Butiary Club organized a screening of Chandni Chowk To China on 11th October. The screening was organized by Butiary Club members along with the members of their respective PWD clubs and other voluntary organizations.
