From the Editor's Pen ...

Each year, the commemoration of Republic Day on 26th January becomes a reminder to each Indian of one's patriotic roots. To the seniors citizens it is a revisiting of the essence of being a part of a strong democratic, secular, socialist republic nation that has been built over the past seven decades overcoming every challenge and rejoicing in every victory with pride.

For the younger generations it is an infusion of a sense of pride and belongingness to a nation that focuses on progress, innovation and reaching greater heights. It perhaps sees hope in the future to be able to weather all crises and challenges and become stronger year after year.

We Rotarians in India feel increasingly proud that we belong to a strong nation, a nation that promises to act local and think global for future progress and upliftment of our ideals, focusing on universal brotherhood and shared goals in the international scenario.

We can definitely be proud of our nation, our India, a free country for over seven decades now where the world looks up as a force to reckon with. We are not only rich in our heritage and culture but we are also rich in our human resources, young minds of vision and intellect and diverse natural bounties that help us to dream and achieve greater heights.

Together, we see a world where people unite and take action to create lasting change – across the globe, in our communities, and in ourselves.
