V. Rotary Insights

Paul Harris: Founder of Rotary International

Paul Harris is the founder of Rotary and the pioneer of the modern service-club movement. His enduring belief, that fellowship among professionals could promote ethical conduct and meaningful service, laid the foundation for what later became Rotary International.

- Early Life: Paul Percy Harris was born on 19 April 1868 in Racine, Wisconsin, USA. Orphaned at a young age, he was brought up by his grandparents in Vermont, where he developed self-reliance and strong moral values. He studied law at the University of Iowa and graduated in 1891. Extensive travels across the United States and Europe broadened his worldview and deepened his appreciation of human relationships.
- The Birth of Rotary: In 1896, Harris settled in Chicago and began his law practice. Amid the fast-paced urban life, he missed the warmth and trust of small-town friendships. To revive that spirit, he gathered a small group of professionals from different vocations.

On 23 February 1905, Paul Harris met with three friends, Gustavus Loehr, Silvester Schiele, and Hiram Shorey, at Loehr's office. This meeting led to the formation of the Rotary Club of Chicago, with meetings held in rotation at members' workplaces, giving Rotary its name.

- From Fellowship to Service: What started as a fellowship club soon evolved into an organisation dedicated to community service, ethical business practices, and international understanding. Rotary expanded rapidly across the United States and overseas. In 1910, the National Association of Rotary Clubs was formed, later renamed Rotary International. Paul Harris served as Rotary's third president (1910–11).
- Legacy: Paul Harris devoted his life to nurturing Rotary's ideals, travelling widely to promote fellowship and service. He passed away on 27 January 1947, but his vision continues through Rotary's global humanitarian work. The Paul Harris Fellow recognition stands as a lasting tribute to his commitment to service above self.

Paul Harris taught the world that friendship, integrity, and service, when combined, can change communities and promote peace.
