Presidential message

Oct 2023

Rtn. Gordon McNally
RI President 2023-24

I am enthused and encouraged by your embrace of mental health initiatives throughout the Rotary world. More than 1,000 of you have responded so far to an ongoing survey by the Rotary Action Group on Mental Health Initiatives, offering your feedback on what Rotary can do to improve the personal well-being of members.

The top suggestions are illuminating. Rotary members are asking for more fellowship, camaraderie, conversation, cohesiveness, and connection. They also want more recognition, validation, and integration. They are seeking more service opportunities, and they want more wellness activities, including mental health speakers, awareness efforts, and education.

Our members not only appreciate the greater focus on mental health, but they also believe that making more of the Rotary experience will materially improve their lives. I find it interesting that members are not asking anything dramatically new of their club — rather they want more of what we do best. For example, connection can be improved during meetings simply by assigning seating once each month to encourage people to speak with someone new.

Here are some great ways that we can help achieve these results and make Rotary more appealing to those considering membership. First, we need to acknowledge the importance of increasing belonging in our clubs and to encourage Rotary members to make the most of every opportunity for new and stronger connections. Public health experts worldwide are concerned about increasing levels of loneliness — the U.S. surgeon general has even declared it an epidemic. Mental health experts agree that finding groups and clubs around common hobbies and interests is a strong way to create greater connectedness. This is what Rotary is all about. We need to make sure all of our members are fully engaged and that our communities are better aware of this inherent strength.

Second, if your club has found new ways to build connection, please share your stories with us at mindhealth@rotary.org so we can make them more broadly known within the Rotary world. Your good ideas might inspire others. Post your service project stories on Rotary Showcase.

And finally, I encourage you to share feedback from surveys like this with your club and bring forward your own ideas to improve your club experience and meet your peers' expectations. The journey we have begun is about more than mental health. It is about taking advantage of the full strength of our wonderful organization and helping all members feel that they are part of a community that cares deeply about their personal well-being.

Everything you do to strengthen connections in Rotary, with each other and the people we serve, also helps improve mental health. And everything we do to improve mental health helps strengthen those connections. Let's continue this virtuous cycle.

Rtn. Asha Venugopal
Dist Governor RID 3030

District governor's message

"Each Rotarian is a connecting link between the idealism of Rotary and their trade or profession". Paul Harris.

January is Vocational Service month but what does that really mean? As one of Rotary's Five Avenues of Service, vocational service calls on every Rotarian to work with integrity and contribute their professional expertise to the needs of society. This month we celebrate how Rotarians use their skills and talents to solve problems and meet needs in their communities and beyond.

Vocational Service focuses on: The recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations, not just those that are pursued by Rotarians. ... The contribution of your vocational talents to solving the problems of society and meeting the needs of the community.

It is an opportunity to begin year-long vocational service activities, ranging from Rotary discussions to awards to community projects. Vocational Service is the way Rotary fosters and supports the application of the Ideal of Service to the pursuit of all vocations. It is the shared responsibility of both the Rotary Club and its members.

Devote a meeting in January to examine the second Avenue of Service, including The Four-Way Test and The Declaration of Rotarians in Business and Professions. Introduce a "mini classifications talk" series in which each member gives a five-minute talk on his or her vocation to promote vocational awareness among Rotarians and help them recognize the worthiness of all useful occupations.

Present a vocational award to someone in the community who has exemplified outstanding professional achievement while maintaining very high ethical standards.

January ushers in the New year. As we look forward to new beginnings and experiences, let's think outside the box and discover new opportunities to serve through Rotary. We have a full six months to finish this Rotary year strong! This is the time for reflection. During the next few months, we will be working hard to complete our goals.

As we start a new calendar year, let us continue to spread RI President Gordon's message and let's "Create Hope in the World".

I and my team wish each of you a New Year filled with happiness, good health, and peace!

President speaks

Dear RCNV Family,

January saw us executing our flagship project "KIDATHON 2024"...an event which brought together a whole lot of Rotarians, Spouses, families, friends, Rotakids, Rotaractors and thousands of participants. The fact that the event went off smoothly was thanks to the flawless planning and execution by the Kidathon committee aided by other committees. Kidathon gives us hope that we can take on and organise large projects which can earn valuable revenue for the club, which in return can serve society with those funds. Rotarians young and old had the opportunity to interact over several days while planning and organising Kidathon. It was heartening to see many new faces before and during the project. I urge other members to regularly attend meetings and projects where not only ideas can be generated or shared, but lifelong friendships can be built.

-Ajay Uplanchiwar

SOHRAB KANGA

Who is a Leader?

Patient & steady with all he must bear,
Ready to meet every challenge with care,
Easy in manner, yet solid as steel,
Strong in his faith, refreshingly real.
Isn't afraid to propose what is bold,
Does not conform to the usual mould.
Eyes that have foresight, for hindsight won't do,
Never backs down when he sees what is true.
Tells it all straight, and means it all too.
Over and over he makes his case clear,
Reaching to touch the ones who won't hear.
Growing in strength, he won't be unnerved,
Ever assuring, he will stand by his every word.
So much a leader and worthy of trust,
Here stands a man who will do what he must.

Finally, our youngest speaker, and as Shivani rightly describes, our golden boy Rtn. Ishan Kukade explained how the age-old business of lending against gold has been modernized and made even more lucrative by this millennial. It was interesting to know the nuances that go into something that appears to be quite linear on the face. Ishaan's expertise on valuation of jewelry satisfied the queries from the audience on the issue.

PP Vikram, too, had many questions that brought out the topics even better. President Ajay and Hon. Secretary Madhu kept the sessions fun with their quips and anecdotes. Rt Ann Vaani Chhabrani tendered a warm vote of thanks to conclude the meeting. The esteemed speakers were introduced briefly by Rtn Ritika and Rt Ann Pallavi Somani during the session.

Mastering the Art of Saving: Building a Secure Financial Future

Introduction:

In a world where financial uncertainty seems to be the only constant, the importance of savings cannot be overstated. Whether you're planning for a dream vacation, a new home, or simply preparing for unexpected expenses, the ability to save money is a cornerstone of financial well-being. In this article, we will explore the art of saving and provide practical tips, including leveraging various financial instruments for a more comprehensive and secure financial future.

1. Set Clear Goals:

Before embarking on your savings journey, it's crucial to define your financial goals. Whether short-term or long-term, having clear objectives will give you a roadmap for your savings plan. Are you saving for a down payment on a house, an emergency fund, or your child's education? Identify your goals to tailor your savings strategy accordingly.

2. Create a Budget:

One of the most effective ways to save money is to create a budget. Track your income and expenses to understand where your money is going. This will help you identify areas where you can cut back and allocate more funds towards savings. A well-structured budget acts as a financial compass, guiding you towards your goals.

3. Automate Your Savings:

Make saving a habit by automating the process. Set up automatic transfers from your checking account to a designated savings account or choosing a SIP (Systematic Investment Plan). Treating savings like a non-negotiable bill ensures that you consistently contribute to your financial future without having to think about it.

4. Emergency Fund:

Building an emergency fund is a crucial aspect of financial security. Aim to save at least three to six months' worth of living expenses in a separate account. This fund serves as a financial safety net, providing peace of mind in the face of unexpected events like medical emergencies or job loss.

5. Health Insurance for Financial Security:

Integrate health insurance into your financial plan to safeguard against unexpected medical expenses. Health insurance provides a financial safety net, ensuring that medical emergencies don't derail your savings plan.

Investments have the potential to generate additional income and contribute to long-term financial growth.

8. Stay Consistent:

The key to successful saving is consistency. Even small, regular contributions can accumulate over time. Stay committed to your savings plan, and celebrate milestones along the way. Consistency is the secret ingredient to turning your financial goals into reality.

Conclusion:

In the ever-changing landscape of personal finance, the ability to save money is a skill that pays lifelong dividends. By setting clear goals, creating a budget, and adopting smart saving strategies, you can build a secure financial future. Remember, the journey to financial well-being starts with the first step – start saving today and Second Step- Put you Savings on the task to Earn for You.

Contribution of Architecture to tourists' experience

-Sapna Vastani

Architecture is a medium of expression of the cultural and geographical diversity of a region. Tourism is a sector which has been growing rapidly in the last few decades owing to advancement in technology and economy globally. Architecture is an indisputable source of history and is linked to tourism since ancient times. Architecture contributes immensely, attracting tourists all over the world to visit landmarks and other scenic places.

Structures like temples are built to worship higher forces, multiplexes and grand malls for entertainment and leisure. Therefore, every building ever constructed revolves around beliefs and user profile of people. People all over wish to interact with such structures and understand more about the region they are visiting. The tourism industry brings indefinite income to many countries and therefore, government bodies invest funds in maintaining historical monuments and places of interest. Being valuable assets, the architecture gives context to a visitor's experience and profoundly fit their anticipations.

Iconic architecture is what creates memories for tourists in the first place. For example, when we reminisce about Paris, we remember the Eiffel Tower, the boulevards, cafes around the corner. When we think about Rome, we recognize the grandiose of the Colosseum and several cathedrals and basilicas. When we think about India, we remind ourselves of the glistening white Taj Mahal, on the banks of the Yamuna River. Each landmark portrays an account of the history and influences tourist psychology.

Modern architecture derived from vernacular values are just as important as traditional architecture. Contemporary architecture are symbolic structures of modern or urban identity bring in hordes of visitors, even in a marginal place. Some cities identified through universal multicultural modern architecture include Sydney, London, Copenhagen, Chicago and Dubai.

A tourist isn't necessarily a wanderer, they could be students or researchers, artists or photographers. This leads to cultural or educational tourism.

Architecture offers a sensual connection to people, engulfing exciting interactions. For a tourist, luxurious resorts, cafes, museums, malls interpret such architecture. Landscapes, both artificial and natural and terrain of different altitudes contribute to tourism and their identity too.

Rural destinations, which identify with agricultural economies can also become a world-class destination. Bregenzerwald in Austria is a paradise of forests and green pastures, creating "an integrated eco-social living and experience space" with contemporary architecture. Today, many five-star hotels are presenting contemporary designs, cycling and trekking paths adorning the natural landscape and eco-buses for easy travel are available.

Amusement and theme parks like Disneyland are considered innovative architectural interventions. It contradicts the phenomena of the inherent sense of place, which is known to be the starting point of various interventions. Every place has its own narrative, a spell-binding story and therefore, plagiarism doesn't work. We can't create replicas of success stories, can we?

Spatial structure and spatial behaviour are interdependent. Architecture assists various activities which makes tourists experience light and sound, materials, enclosures, heat and ventilation, titillating all the senses and engaging the mind towards aesthetics and many other aspects of a structure.

Every location worth visiting from palace to aquariums, from roads to bridges is owed to design. Visitors interpret architecture in their profound way and interact with the physical elements present. Therefore, there is an opportunity for architects to create conversational designs. The hunger to consume information among postmodern tourists such as signs, symbols and cultural capital by the 'tourist gaze' is artefactual. Every travel memory is a living breathing visual adventure. After all, what do scenic photographs and picture postcards capture? Architecture.
