ROTARY CLUB OF BOMBAY POWAI

incredible
2023-24

Dear Friends,

As we embark on another month dedicated to service, I want to emphasize the critical importance of health, hygiene, and water sanitation in our communities. These fundamental aspects of well-being are not just individual concerns but collective responsibilities that impact everyone.

Ensuring access to clean water and proper sanitation facilities is a cornerstone of public health. It's a basic human right, yet millions around the world still lack these necessities. As members of Rotary, we have the power to change this narrative through our initiatives and projects.

Let's continue our efforts to provide clean water sources, promote hygiene education, and support sanitation infrastructure in underserved areas. By doing so, we not only improve health outcomes but also empower individuals and communities to thrive.

Together, let's make a lasting impact in the lives of those in need. Thank you for your dedication to service and for being champions of health and hygiene.

Yours in service,

R.I PRESIDENT Speaks

R. GORDON R. MCLNALLY

Dear fellow Rotary members,

There are many pathways to peace, and in Rotary, we are fortunate to have Rotary Peace Fellows who demonstrate this truth time and again.

Each year, Rotary awards up to 130 fellowships for leaders around the world to study peace and development, and what these peace fellows learn prepares them to work in conflict prevention and resolution and promote Positive Peace. Here are a few examples of the creative ways peace fellows advance peace:

Promoting sustainability

Alejandra Rueda-Zarate combined her Rotary Peace Fellowship in peace and conflict resolution with her master's degree in energy and resources to support her dream of protecting the Colombian countryside.

She founded the organization NES Naturaleza in 2011 to help farmers in Colombia and across rural Latin America gain access to knowledge and training to uphold sustainable farming standards. That support has improved the lives of nearly 4,500 farmers, inspiring many of them to become entrepreneurs. And it's helped promote both natural and social sustainability throughout Latin America.

Ending racism

Peace fellows Geoffrey Diesel and Kathy Doherty have applied their fellowships in peace and development studies toward co-founding the Racial Equity Project, a subcommittee of Rotary Positive Peace Activators in North America committed to studying ways to create a more peaceful society through antiracism efforts.

The Racial Equity Project takes a deep look into how the eight Pillars of Positive Peace could support efforts to address racism, and it works to spread this message to communities across North America. The organization initially grew from Rotary's strategic partnership with the Institute for Economics and Peace, a global think tank dedicated to promoting Positive Peace.

Managing disasters using data

Through a Rotary Peace Fellowship, Jamie LeSueur earned a master's degree in social science within peace and conflict research. He now leads emergency operations for the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies, setting a management and operational framework for agency collaboration in emergency response situations.

Jamie has found that research data is a powerful tool to bring calm to the complex world of disaster response. No matter what an organization's protocols might entail, letting research be the foundation for decision making helps clarify even the most complicated emergencies.

These stories — and hundreds like them — show how Rotary is creating a generation of leaders ready and able to build peace worldwide. Nearly 1,800 peace fellows have graduated from Rotary Peace Centers, and they are applying their craft in more than 140 countries. May the continuing work of peace fellows and the Rotary members who support them inspire you to continue to Create Hope in the World.

Roots to Wings

As children of Sudha and Harish, we've had the unique privilege to witness firsthand the remarkable journey of our parents—from their humble beginnings in Tamil Nadu to the bustling life of Mumbai. In sharing these memories, we hope to encapsulate not just the events but the spirit and values that have shaped our family and influenced who we are today.

Both Sudha and Harish, children of middle-class Tamil families, have their roots in the villages of Patamadai and Tirunelveli. Harish, or Appa as we call him, was raised in Mumbai, amidst a large South Indian community that migrated in search of better opportunities.

Growing up in a South Indian neighborhood in Sion/Matunga, he was surrounded by a common cultural heritage and aspirations. His educational journey at Our Lady Of Good Counsel High School and later Khalsa College set the stage for his entrepreneurial spirit.

Alongside my grandfather, Appa ventured into starting Vikas Laboratories, which blossomed into a successful business.

Amma's early life in Chennai was marked by her boldness and desire to challenge societal norms. From wearing shirts and pants to cycling through the streets, she embraced her independence early on. Her talents were diverse, spanning dancing and singing without any formal training, and even starring as a child actor in a Tamil movie. When she transferred to a government Tamil medium high school from a Catholic English-speaking school, she not only quickly adapted to reading and writing in Tamil but also taught English to her classmates, filling a void left by a shortage of English-speaking teachers.

Building Life in Mumbai --- Post-college, their marriage led them to settle in Mumbai, a city that offered a new world of opportunities and challenges. Those early years were a mix of joy, adaptation, and growth.

For Amma, Mumbai was a canvas where she could paint her identity anew, immediately stepping up as a leader in organising community events. Appa, meanwhile, juggled the challenges of expanding a business with the responsibilities of a growing family.

Memories of a Vibrant Childhood --- My earliest memories of Appa and Amma are filled with cricket on the main Sion-Panvel highway, drives in our Fiat to South Mumbai, enjoying golas at Juhu Beach, and the festive atmosphere of visarjan at Dadar. These experiences, coupled with regular visits to the soap factory, created a stable and cherished childhood for me and my brother.

The 90s brought a new chapter in our lives, establishing roots in Hiranandani Gardens, Powai --- The move to Powai brought a significant change in our lives. Surrounded by nature and equipped with modern amenities, Powai became more than just a home—it became a community where diverse families shared their cultures and dreams. This sense of community was something our parents thrived on and contributed to.

Amma's role in initiating and hosting cultural events, like the Ganesh Chaturthi and Dandiya celebrations, showcased her ability to bring people together. Her performances and leadership at these events not only entertained but also fostered a sense of unity among diverse groups.

Challenges and Triumphs, Overcoming Adversity ---The 1992 riots and the 1993 Latur earthquake were periods of strife and solidarity. During these times, our parents, along with other community members, engaged in significant relief efforts, showcasing the impact of collective action. The rasta rokho movement in 1996-97, led by Appa and his friends, highlighted their resolve to seek justice and improvements for their community.

2000s to Present, Continuing Legacy --- The last two decades have seen both Sudha and Harish play pivotal roles in various organisations within the community. Appa's involvement in the anti-hawking protests and Amma's innovative fundraising efforts through movie screenings are just recent examples of their ongoing commitment to community service and leadership.

Reflecting on our parents' journey offers more than just a trip down memory lane; it provides lessons in resilience, leadership, and community building. As we continue to navigate our paths, the values and examples set by Sudha and Harish remain guiding lights, inspiring us to contribute meaningfully to our communities and uphold the family legacy with pride.

Ashok & Tanusree Nandy

Shrikrishna Bhawe

Ashok Nandy, the Bong, Marathi manoos, Guju and many more communities rolled into one is a RCBP veteran. Nandy as he is popularly called is one of the earliest members to join RCBP.

A hardy Bhandup boy, after a few stints in the industry, he founded 'Nandy Engineering Works', a fabrication business and ran it successfully for decades.

A linguist, he can speak Marathi like a native & Gujarati like a native of Ahmedabad. With his multilingual felicity and local charm, he is the go-to man from finalization/booking of Venues, menus, govt permissions, licenses etc for all Rotary events . He can charm his way through even a recalcitrant BMC staffer. No Rotary event is conceivable without factoring his liaison with every govt department involved.

He can charm several canny Shettys and manages the most incredible rates from them for RCBP's banquets/events.

Married to Tanu, a gourmet cook & a hostess par excellence, she matches her husband's multicultural bend in matters culinary. She can cook a Kolhapuri chicken or Malwani fish curry with as much elan as she can a maccher jhol or a bhaja .

Apart from her home, her culinary care extends to friends in various events too - where she makes sure you are fully supplied with kababs & tikkas summoning waiters who are at her beck & call. She herself is a vegetarian, perhaps the only Bong vegetarian that I know of or even exists .

Tanu is ever supportive of every rotary project and activity and is an asset to every President. She is also the default front desk for all Rotary events, and deftly manages registrations & collections - earning the moniker of 'Pathan' from me .

Nandys are blessed with two children - son Amit who manages a sports academy & daughter Supriya a home maker, both happily married and have two lovely grand daughters - Riya & Aarika on whom they dote.

BY 2030 EVERYONE
WILL HAVE SAFE WATER TO DRINK

#GlobalGoals

One in four people lives without safe drinking water and almost half lack basic sanitation. This staggering reality impacts health, education, and overall well-being. United Nations Sustainable Development Goal \(SDG\) 6 on clean water and sanitation encourages us to address universal access to drinking water and sanitation along with improved water management to protect ecosystems and build resiliency. Each Rotary club can help support communities with access to safe water, sanitation, and hygiene by 2030.

Rotary International President-elect Stephanie Urchick, a member of the Rotary Club of McMurray, Pennsylvania, USA, saw the magic of Rotary when she was helping a community in the Dominican Republic access clean water.

Two boys were watching as dirty water entered the water filter and then ran out clean at the other end. "One of the boys grabbed my sleeve and said, 'Show me the magic again,'" she said. Obviously, the water filter wasn't magic. The project team worked hard to build a strong working relationship with the community, understand their wishes and needs, procure and install appropriate filters, and work with leaders in the area to maintain them while helping the community build healthy habits to ensure the filters and filtered water remained clean. The boys knew that easier access to clean water would change their lives.

This transformative power motivates all clubs worldwide

1907 ROTARY'S FIRST SERVICE PROJECT

In 1907, the Rotary Club of Chicago -- which had been established only two years before by Paul Harris -- initiated the very first Rotary public service project: the construction of 'comfort stations' or public toilets.

In 1906, realizing the importance of community service, Paul Harris persuaded the Chicago Rotary Club to initiate the establishment of public comfort stations (public toilets) in the city of Chicago, inviting the city administration and every civic organization in the city to join the new club in the undertaking. It is possible that some more attractive objective might have been chosen for the first community service venture, but it would be difficult to have found one which would have stirred up more agitation.

Two formidable forces rose up against this project; one was the Chicago Association of Brewers which contended that every one of Chicago's six thousand saloons offered public comfort conveniences for men.

The other opponent was the Association of Department Stores on State Street which contended that free accommodations in their stores were available to women.

The proponents of the measure nevertheless persisted that men ought not to have to buy a glass of beer nor women have to buy merchandise to make use of toilet facilities. The stations were established.
