Meeting: "Woman to Woman"

A 2016 study found that women outperform men in 11 of the 12 key emotional intelligence competencies such as collaboration, communication and professionalism. The Club is going to celebrate "Women's Day" on 4th March at D.P. Doshi Greater Auditorium, Rotary Greater Bhavan by organizing various programs in which women will be at heart of them. The event is going to be headed by Ann. Nitika Nandani with Ann. Neha Sheth and Rtn. Ishita Chhotai as her support team. The event shall see an active participation of 16 to 18 participants from diversified age groups.

What do you think about the title "Woman to Woman"?

Meeting Review : Rotary Swadutsav- "The Epicures" Rtn. Yash Rathod and Rtn. Priyank Bharad.

All the Rotarians cooked food and all the Anns and Annets enjoyed the very tasty dishes like Panner Bhurji, Chole- Kulcha, Sandwiches, Panipuri, Bhelpuri and some mouthwatering desserts. The club always comes with innovative ideas and "Swad utsav" was one such. We hope that this series would continue in future.

Life Begins at the End of your Comfort Zone

I strongly believe in the quote “Life begins at the end of your comfort zone”, by American author Neale Donald Walsh. Some may wonder, what exactly this comfort zone is. The comfort zone defined by Merriam-Webster says that is it “the level at which one functions with ease and familiarity”. In simple words comfort zone is like a safety net where a person’s already existing conditions, feelings, situations are well retained.

We humans are instinctively wired to seek food, water and shelter for survival and remain in our own safety nets. We want an overall feeling of contentment in whatever is going on in our lives at a given point of time. Whenever we are faced with an unknown or painful situation we reciprocate by instantly resisting. Avoidance becomes our mantra to find comfort in the familiarity of the “old”.

Because “old” gives us confidence that we draw from our past experiences, situations we have been in, places that we have already been to and people that we have always known.

We as humans have always been a curious species but life made us believe that being curious makes life uncertain and vulnerable. Over the time we have learnt that being in our safety zone is better than being vulnerable. But I feel we humans need to get out of this so called comfort zone and experience the richness of the life endowed upon us because nothing ventured is nothing gained.

We need to realize that being contented with what we already have will never lead us to the success that we desire. If everyone starts getting caught in their comfort zones, the world will sit idle and be decades behind of where we are today. There will be no innovations if we choose to stick to the things that we are already familiar with. I think we would never have had internet and smartphones if their developers had been sitting in their comfort zones.

Change is the inevitable nature of life, and if we do not celebrate the challenges that life throws at us, life will become boring and reward less. We need to stop resisting the change because we can either learn to accept the change and be happy or keep resisting it and be unhappy. One simply needs to reach out of the box a few times before it becomes a second nature to get out their comfort zone. Don’t let this enriching life just pass by you. Enjoy the change. Get out of your comfort zone because life is waiting for you there.

- By Ann. Rajvi Bharad.
