“What goes around... comes around”

Dear Rotarians,

Life is the most precious gift we receive as humans, so making the most out of it is imperative if we want to live it fully. Throughout this journey, our purpose as humans is to discover who we are and kill our demons while fulfilling our calling.

To understand how we can do so, let's explore three of my favorite lessons from the Bhagwad Gita:

Lesson 1: We all have our dharma to fulfill if we want to know joy and peace.

A man's purpose in life is the eternal question of humanity. Everyone has a dharma to fulfill. This powerful concept lies at the foundation of our happiness as humans and points towards what we should be striving for. Therefore, doing more of what makes us happy and facing our demons, pain points, or however you want to call them is the key to a fulfilled life.

Lesson 2: Work on your temperament and enjoy the journey.

Part of our lack of fulfillment and misery comes from not experiencing life fully. Instead of always anticipating, it's crucial to find joy in the journey. Ups and downs are life lessons, daily activities give you meaning and substance, and achieving smaller objectives prepares you for the end victory. True wisdom lies in finding happiness right here right now, not just for a brief moment in the accomplished future.

Lesson 3: To meditate is to learn how to control your mind.

To meditate is to fully immerse yourself in the present moment by letting go of how life should be and embracing it for what it is. The person who can master themselves and control their thoughts can conquer anything. As long as you keep your happiness in your mind, you can learn how to expand, use, feel, and embrace it for as long as you want. Meditating can also help you target efforts more easily and keep your spirit focused on its dharma.

Thank you !!

President Rtn. Prithika Samani

“Embracing the festival spirit”

One of the largest festivals of the country, #Navratri, is here. Every year, Navratri is celebrated with a whole lot of pomp and grandeur all across the country. From garba to aarti, India celebrates this festival with great zeal and enthusiasm. Occurring usually in the month of September and October, this festival is observed in honour of Goddess Durga. It spans over nine days and different avatars of Goddess Durga are worshipped with utmost devotion. Navratri is celebrated in different ways throughout India. Certain people revere different aspects of Durga and some people fast while others feast.

Immediately after Navratri comes Diwali-often referred as Festival of Lights It is celebrated by lighting lamps, and bursting crackers and fireworks. It is a festival which commemorates the victorious return of Lord Rama to Ayodhya after saving his wife Sita from the demon king Ravana Hindus believe that his return was welcomed by the people of Ayodhya by lighting up the streets. Houses are decorated with lights of different colours and sizes, earthen lamps glittering at the entrances and over the boundaries and railings make the view mesmerizing. People come out of their houses in new clothes and burn crackers and fireworks.

Be it Navratri or Diwali, the people all over India celebrate it with equal enthusiasm.
