They were in Mumbai after auditioning many actors in Chennai, Delhi and Bangalore. I thought it was a great opportunity for me. [sic] I met Radhamohan and he explained the character to me. I wanted to convince him that I could play it. So, what I did was, I dressed like the character and went to see him again. He liked the fact that an actor did his homework. I think that helped me clinch the role". Portraying as Trisha's Punjabi fiance, his role received critical acclaim.
