About the Speaker

R. Pradeep John, Deputy Manager, TNUIFSL also blogs under Tamil Nadu Weatherman name in Facebook. He is working in Project Development in TNUIFSL for past 8 years and has been part of projects such as Adyar Poonga Restoration (1st wetland restoration in India), Cooum River Restoration and many other infrastructure projects across the State. He is a born Pluviophile (lover of rain and rain gives happiness). He was passionate about rains during the pre-internet era of 1990's. The last significant cyclone which made landfall in Chennai in October 1994 and subsequent floods in June 1996 created huge interest in weather. Even though, his education (BE in computer science and MBA Finance) has nothing to do with weather, he continued his passion during his free time. He started as a weather blogger in Kea Weather in 2008 subsequently started to give real-time updates on Chennai and Tamil Nadu Weather as Tamil Nadu Weatherman from 2012 in Facebook. His passion is compiling rainfall stats of heavy rainfall stations in India and plans to visit all these wonderful places such as Agumbe, Cherrapunji, Talacavery, Mahabaleshwar, Chinna Kallar etc during his lifetime.
